HOUSE.

Night sessions ordered for Wedneday and Thursday to consider Bills reported by naval committee Me-Maken from appropriation committee generated back the special deficiency Bill with senute amendments.

Elections committee had a fall secret meeting) presumably on the Springer Manulag affair this morning.

The point being made that it must be referred to Committee of the whole McMalon withdrew the Bill and it was recommisted. The night sessions were ordered for the 21st and 23rd for District Columbia business, Atkins chairman of the appropriation committee reported Naval appropriations Bill. Referred: Committee of the whole report state Navy dept. estimate amounted to $14,609.050. The committee reduces amount $215,000 from estimate making $355,000 larger bhan last years bill.

Clymer moved that the House go into committee upon the army appropriation bill which motion was antogonized by Springer who desired to call up the Curtin-Yocum contestad election case. Clymer's motion was howeveragreed to and the House went into committee with Springer in the chair on the army appropriation

Washington, D. C., April 6.-H. H. Finley issued a card to-day denying the charge of Representative Springer that he was the author of the anonymous letter dated March the 4th, and mailed March 8th, in which $5,000 were off red him if he would support W. D. Washburne in the Donnelly contested election case. Finley says "I desire to state unquestionably, irrequirecally and positively that I never wrote any such letter or employed any other person to write it, and did not know of its existence until Mr. Spring r had shown it to Hon, Geo. W. Julian. Springer at the time he made the charge also read a letter of mine dated March 7th 1880, in which I strongly urged him to support Donnelly. There is nothing in that letter I regret; I did not speak Minnesota stolen away from the Democracy by unparalleled beiberies and one was injured. intimidasions, and I favored restoring at to the Democratic column of States where it properly belonged. had many times conversed with Springer and he repeatedly assured views and would vote to sent Dounelly. Only one week before the date of the anonymous letter Springer volunteered the remark that the Demoenatic party had already received as much almse for Donnelly in the Washburne case as it could receive and he was in favor of going ahead and at once scating Donnelly. I was astonished beyond expression when I learned a few days afterwards that the Republicans were claiming Springer at upon their side. I wrote therefore, carnestly and warmly because L did not wish to see Springer injure his own reputation and at the same time appease the great interests of the Democratic party. If I spoke too strongly in that letter or in any way was guilty of any impropriety I he made se serious a charge against racks, with a piece of one ear cut off. in. Come again.

SENATE.

Pendleton went over the history of various negotiations with the Utes and stated his belief that wrongs Vanderbilt Cathers in about were committed on both sides and the feeling irritation existed up to to the time of the massacre. To-day forty thousand settlers were pressing upon these four thousand Indians. The Government has either to make war upon the Indians in the interest of the settlers or on the settlers in the interest of the Indians. The only alternative is to make arrangements advantageous to both the Indian and the settlers as is attempted in this agreement. It observed the treaty rights and inaugurated what is now required, namely : a new Indian policy. The old policy of large reservations and recognation of tribal relation was suitable to the time when Indians were not maltreated by the people of Colorado. He reiterated the trouble which was due to maladministration on the part of the Interior department and alleged that the Secretary had not sent all the information to the Senate that had been called for.

Hill said the bill was not claimed by any to be perfect but was best settlement of ute question that was thought practicable, he denied the statement of Teller that interior Department had concealed the facts concerning the treatment of the captive women with a view to creating sympathy with the Indians and said information was withheld at the urgent request of the women and for The policy of educating the Indian was a good one, but it required time. This bill was to meet a sudden emergency, adjourned.

MISCELLANY.

Santa Fe, April 6 -- Charley Fernandez, a buckboard driver left here last night on his drive to Chama, a stage station 35 miles distant on the road botween here and Alamosa, stopped at a Mexican baile, three miles from Chama, sending the buckboard on by another driver. At thre this morning during the dance he became involved in a quarrel with Denver & Rio Grande railroad laborers and was shot four times; three times. through the head, and killed.
